DRIVER KILLED — Terry D. Burba, 25, Sabina, was killed at 3 a.m. Saturday when the car he was driving (pictured) struck a bridge on the CCC-Highway-W near the Cline Road intersection. Fayette County Sheriff's deputies on the scene reported traffic was snarled for a period of time until all the wreckage could be cleared from the roadway.

Single-car mishap kills Sabina man

A Sabina man was fatally injured in an accident early Saturday morning which demolished his auto, leaving pieces strewn over the CCC-Highway-W near the Cline Road intersection, and snarled traffic for a period of time while deputies from the Fayette County Sheriff's Department investigated the mishap.

Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson and deputies Dave Souther and Charles Wise were present at the scene and reported a car driven by Terry D. Burba, 25, of Sabina, traveled left of center around 3 a.m. and struck a cement bridge on CCC Highway-W, near Cline Road.

After the initial impact, the driver's side of the car burst from the frame, ejecting the driver who was found 13 feet from the 1970 model auto when it finally came to rest after sliding 40 feet broadside in the middle of the roadway.

Burba was taken to Fayette County Memorial Hospital by ambulance and pronounced dead on arrival.

Funeral services for the accident victim are being arranged by the Morrow-Huffman Funeral Home in Washington C.H.

Washington C.H. police reported a minor accident at 4:50 p.m. Friday involving cars belonging to Louise B. Ladrach, 51, of 619 Warren Ave., and Robert Leeth, Jamison Road. Police stated Mrs. Ladrach struck the Leeth auto while pulling from a parking space on E. Court Street near the Fayette Street intersection.

Both sides claim victory

Tax bill compromised

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both President Ford and Congress are claiming victory in blocking a Jan. 1 tax increase, but the clear winner is the American taxpayer.

Neither side wanted to be "the grinch that stole Christmas," said Sen. Russell B. Long, who helped draft the compromise proposal.

Without Friday's agreement, temporary tax cuts earlier this year would have ended and a typical worker would have faced a tax increase of up to $6 per week.

The bill provides for a slight expansion of the 1975 tax cuts. The goal is to keep a person's tax withholding rate at the same level in 1976 as in 1975, despite increases in most wages.

The compromise ended an impasse that developed Thursday over the bill to extend the 1975 tax cuts into 1976. President Ford refused to accept the bill first passed by Congress because it did not contain a spending ceiling for fiscal 1977. And the Democrats would not accept Ford's demand for a specific dollar ceiling.

The face-saving compromise between Congress and the White House came when Long and Sen. William V. Roth, R-Del., proposed some vague anti-spending language. Otherwise, the bill passed Friday that Ford said he would sign is essentially the same as one he vetoed earlier.

The wording had to be innocuous

Santa warms hearts of 295 underprivileged school children

HARD TO DECIDE — With such a wide variety of gifts to choose from, many of the almost 300 underprivileged elementary school children at the annual Christmas party sponsored by American Legion Post 25, had trouble telling Santa what they wanted. Friday's event was the 28th consecutive year for the program.

Fires destroy mobile homes; city house severely damaged

Two house trailers were completely destroyed by fire early Saturday morning in two different locations in Fayette County, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported today. Washington C.H. firefighters reported a residential fire in Washington C.H. which caused severe damage and resulted in the death of a family pet.

Fayette County Sheriff's Deputy David L. Souther was puzzled at 1:05 a.m. Saturday while on routine patrol in the vicinity of Prairie Knolls Trailer Park on Prairie Road when he saw what appeared to be headlights in the distance which kept changing in size. Deputy Souther drove closer to the area to investigate and discovered flames flicking in a trailer belonging to Richard E. Kemp.

Fire departments from Bloomingburg and Jeffersonville were summoned to the scene and extinguished the blaze which had started to spread to the neighboring trailer belonging to Richard Andrews, creating a possible propane gas explosion. Kemp's trailer was reported a complete loss and Andrews' home was damaged by heat and smoke. Kemp was not home at the time, but it was reported his coon hound puppy perished in the blaze. Bloomingburg Fire Chief Rex Bloomer stated the fire may have been the result of a furnace malfunction, but an investigation is continuing.

Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson, deputies Souther and Charles Wise and auxiliary deputy George Hellenthal were at the scene.

Another family dog perished in a blaze which occurred at 12:43 p.m. Friday at the Hubert Jones residence, 713 Delaware St., Washington C.H. firemen reported the two alarm fire started in a rear bedroom and spread throughout the house, igniting areas of the attic and kitchen.

Jones and his family were not home at the time, but once contacted, firemen learned of the dog being in the home. Flames, smoke and extreme heat prevented efforts to rescue the animal.

The home, owned by Wanda Whaley, incurred at $8,000 structural loss and $3,000 loss of contents. Firemen reported they were initially hampered by lack of manpower, due to other members of the department being on sick leave, but once the alert was issued firemen E.J. Helt and Jim Sever, who were on duty at the time, were joined by eight off-duty firemen and eight volunteer firemen. Fire Chief Maynard L. (Joe) Dennen stated he was pleased with the instantaneous cooperation.

Assistant Fire Chief John P. Rockhold stated the fire has been attributed to an electric blanket in the rear bedroom where the blaze erupted, but added investigation is continuing since members of the family believe the blanket was definitely not in operation before the house was vacated.

GUTTED HOUSE — Pictured is the kitchen area of the Hubert Jones home at 713 Delaware St. which was gutted by fire at noon Friday. Washington C.H. firemen were on the scene two hours with two trucks subduing the blaze which caused an estimated $8,000 damage to the home and $3,000 the contents.

Joint economic conference outlines state's problems

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The legislature's joint economic conference has recessed for the year-end holidays after two days of testimony outlining the scope of Ohio's economic problems.

The Senate-House panel heard Friday from James Duerk, director of the Department of Economic and Community Development who suggested action to increase tax incentives to bolster the state's efforts to attract new industry.

Duerk also told the committee that his department is beefing up its staff for an intensive industry search next year to be headed by Gov. James A. Rhodes. It will focus in part on efforts to make Ohio's industrial community more diversified, he said.

He said, on another subject, that the department is going ahead with development of its case to try to attract a newly announced federal solar energy research center.

The U.S. Energy Research and Development Agency hasn't advertised its criteria for the facility, but Duerk said some of the standards can be anticipated.

The weather outside Friday may have resembled the North Pole in temperature, but Santa's presence, and the efforts of the Paul H. Hughey Post 25 American Legion helped warm the hearts of approximately 295 underprivileged elementary school children.

Chairman Paul Souther, members of the American Legion post and staff members from the Fayette County Health Department helped in the direction of the 28-year-old event which provides a Christmas party for the less fortunate children of Fayette County.

The children, ranging in age from six to ten and representing all elementary schools in the Miami Trace and Washington C.H. districts, began arriving at the post home on N. Fayette Street at 1:45 p.m. The Washington C.H. youngsters were transported in a bus provided by the Gregg Street Church of Christ in Christian Union, County children were transported in school buses.

After removing their coats on the first floor, the youngsters were escorted upstairs where they were seated at long tables and served ice cream by the health department staff. Each child also received certificates to purchase various articles of clothing at a local store.

Individual examples of roudiness surfaced and were appropriately handled by kindly actions of the health department staff but, in general, the collection of school children behaved themselves well as they impatiently awaited the arrival of Santa Claus.

At 3 p.m., Santa appeared and was greeted by a deafening roar of welcome from the children. Going by school groups, and in order of arrival at the post, the excited little children lined up and waited to tell Santa which of the many gifts around him they wanted.

The selection of gifts included dolls of all sizes, shapes and colors, toy guns, tractors, and tea sets. Footballs, basketballs and bowling sets were available for the sports-minded. All of the brand new, quality merchandise had been purchased through a special Legion fund for the event.

As the children filed out of the room, they were given new and correctly fitting socks and gloves, as well as a bag consisting of an orange, candy and cake. The socks, gloves and cakes were provided through the Legion fund, while the candy was donated by the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce. Hidy's Foods store, the Elm Street Market, Clark's Cardinal Market, the Fayette Street Market and Enslin's Market supplied other treats.

By 4 p.m. the Christmas program had ended, the children had departed and everyone remaining took a few minutes to relax and thank Santa (Bob Woods) for his help throughout the festivities.

It was also a special time to remember the work of the late Dr. Charles M. Pfersick, who founded the event while serving as commander of the Legion post 27 years ago.

Senate bans money meddling in Angola

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford says a Senatepassed ban on covert U.S. military aid in Angola would "seriously violate the national interest of the United States."

The Senate voted 54 to 22 on Friday to bar use by the Central Intelligence Agency of any monies in a $112.3-billion defense appropriations bill for covert military activities in the south African nation.

Ford, shortly after the vote, asked the Senate to reconsider before adjourning its session for the year. It did not.

Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., said the House, where at least 140 members are on record in opposition to further Angolan aid, will consider the bill next year.

That left the entire fiscal year 1976 Defense Department appropriations bill in limbo for a month. But, like other agencies awaiting final action on their budgets, the Pentagon programs and the CIA activities funded in disguise in the appropriations can continue at current levels under a blanket resolution.

The CIA reportedly has about $5 million in unspent aid committed to Angola, a covert-activity reserve of $3 million and a request pending for $28 million.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said the Senate's ban, if upheld by the House, would have "disastrous" consequences for U.S. foreign policy.

Speaking to reporters at a State Department ceremony, Kissinger said, "The United States cannot escape its responsibilities, even by congressional votes.... We have no great power ambitions in Africa."

Ford told reporters, "The sole issue is the provision of modest amounts of assistance to oppose military intervention by two extra-continental powers, namely the Soviet Union and Cuba."

Kissinger had said before the vote that the reported $25 million in U.S. aid already funneled to Angolan factions was solely a "reaction to what the Soviets did" in sending money from October 1974 on to the Marxist faction and in staging a massive arms buildup in March.

But Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., told his colleagues he did not believe Angola's fate was essential to U.S. security.

Before the pivotal vote on a motion by Sen. John Tunney, D-Calif., to insert the Angolan aid restriction, Mansfield summarized the views voiced by many senators during the debate this week — that secret U.S. involvement in Angola strongly parallels the commitments that led the United States into 11 years of war in Vietnam.

Tax bill

enough to satisfy liberal Democrats, who wanted to protect the congressional budget process, but still sound enough like a spending-cut commitment to win Ford's approval.

The new language says, "Congress is ... determined to continue to control spending." It promised reduced spending "equal to any additional reduction in taxes."

There is nothing binding in the added language.

"Everybody can construe that language any way he wants to and, as far as I'm concerned, I'm happy about that," Long told the Senate.

The bill was approved by the Senate 72 to 7, then with some slight language changes by the House 372 to 10. The Senate passed the final version by voice vote.

Having reached agreement with the White House on the tax bill, Congress went home until Jan. 19.

As a result of the agreement, American workers and businesses would get a six-month extension of the tax cuts that are due to expire on Dec. 31.

Without the extension, an average family of four earning $15,000 a year would have paid $180 more per year on an annual basis. Under the new bill they would actually pay $1,519 in 1976 income, or $60 less than on 1975 earnings.

Tax freeze plan feared illegal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democratic legislative leaders say they think Gov. James A. Rhodes' plan to have the Board of Tax Appeals freeze unvoted property taxes is illegal.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, and Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, also told a news conference Friday they may try to block it in court if the board approves the plan at a Jan. 22 hearing.

Riffe said the legislature has had under study "for several months" a bill that would make significant changes in property tax procedures including a possible freeze on hikes that now can be implemented as a result of inflationary increases in property values.

"I don't think the board has that kind of authority," said the speaker. In response to a question, he called court action, if the board goes ahead, "a definite possibility."

The speaker contended the only legal way to effect the freeze would be through legislation or a constitutional amendment approved by voters. "We're going to take a look at it," he said.

Rhodes' approach to the problem was "irresponsible," he added. In a joint statement distributed to newsmen, the leaders accused Rhodes of trying to grab headlines, saying they "readily concede (his) ability to do that." Ocasek, an educator himself, said he visits about 150 schools a year and has seen no evidence of bad management.

The Akron lawmaker also scored the Republican governor for his attack earlier this week against school administrators. He denied Rhodes' charge that Ohio's schools are being mismanaged and added "it's a nice cliché to say that our schools are being mismanaged. He's just taking pot shots to get headlines."

The majority party spokesman said Democrats stand ready to block any proposed delay by the State Controlling Board at its meeting Monday of a December state school subsidy. However, there appeared a chance that Budget Director Howard Collier wouldn't have to ask for the delay.

Earlier, Collier said he would ask that the state hold up the $57 million due in basic aid, but release $143 million due the local school districts to implement Ohio's new "equal yield" formula. Ocasek said Democrats would insist that if the state can't pay all of its bills in December, a low revenue month, others besides the schools will have to wait for their money.

However, due to requests of administrators who said they'd rather the delay come in January rather than December, Collier's office was trying to determine if the problem can be put off a month.

Riffe said late Friday he understood Collier had found the temporary solution.

New York imposes stiff taxes

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The New York State legislature imposed a $600 million tax increase on corporations and banks early today, then ended a year-long session that featured one crisis after another.

The approval of the tax bill came shortly before 4 a.m. Senate Majority Leader Warren Anderson had to put down a last-minute revolt by his Republican colleagues.

The tax bill, which Gov. Hugh Carey is expected to sign into law, would have no direct impact on citizens in general.

But it would confront thousands of businesses with unexpected end-of-the-year tax bills. Opponents warned it would drive firms and jobs from the state and force higher consumer prices.

There is also a possibility that the legislature will impose other tax increases — which would affect taxpayers in general — after the 1976 session begins Jan. 7.

Republicans have pledged to resist any further such increases. But without more taxes the tax plan as it stands would require $300 million in budget cuts to balance the budget. Carey is already planning $600 million in cuts and has already begun firing state workers.

Approval of the corporation and bank tax represented a substantial concession by Anderson and other Republicans to Carey. They had resisted his call for tax hikes for nearly a year.

But Anderson, who said only last week that tax increases were "not a subject for negotiation," was forced to give in because of warnings from bankers that the state's credit — already shaken by New York City's fiscal crisis — could be wrecked if the state did not balance its budget.

When the lawmakers adjourned, they had completed 12 months of struggle with a seemingly endless series of financial crises which engulfed New York City, the city of Yonkers, the state Urban Development Corp., and the state government itself.

Anderson persuaded 10 of his 33 fellow Republicans to support the tax bill, which passed the Senate 31 to 24 with heavy Democratic support.

The bill had cleared the Assembly earlier in the morning, 76 to 59, despite solid Republican opposition.

The legislature's tax package, to produce $600 million over 15 months, will raise the basic income-tax rate on corporations from 9 per cent to 10 per cent, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1975, and put a retroactive 20 per cent surcharge on the corporate franchise tax for the current calendar year.

Income taxes on banks will be raised from the current 8 per cent to 12 per cent retroactive to Jan. 1, 1975, with an additional 30 per cent surcharge for this calendar year and next.

Preparations launched for Lincoln Day dinner

Preparations for the annual Lincoln Day dinner in February were launched at meeting this week of the Fayette County Republican Club in the Landmark auditorium on S. Fayette Street.

Ronald Campbell, club vice president, was appointed general program chairman for the annual dinner. Ticket sales will be coordinated by Mrs. Kathryn Lee while Mrs. Mary Jean Jennings will be in charge of securing a guest speaker.

During a discussion of the 1976 primary election it was emphasized that Republican committeemen will be elected in each precinct for the first time. Previously there has been only one committeeman elected in each ward or township. Interested Republican voters are encouraged to become candidates in their respective precincts, according to club president John Rhoad. Additional information may be obtained from the Fayette County Board of Elections office at 335-1190.

Election of Republican Club officers will be held at the next meeting which is scheduled for 8 p.m. Jan. 7 in the Landmark auditorium. A report will be submitted at that time by the nominating committee which consists of Elmer Reed, Mrs. Kathryn Lee, George Lundberg, Miss Mary Frances Snyder and Mrs. Mary Jean Jennings.

World government backers rap U.S. record in U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The world federalists, inveterate promoters of world government, have given the United States one of the lowest scores in their annual survey of how countries voted on "world order" issues at the U.N. General Assembly.

Sweden piled up the best record and the United States ranked sixth from the bottom of the list of 139 countries scored on their votes in the just-completed assembly.

By world federalist standards, the United States voted worse than all European and all Communist countries except Albania and the new Khmer Rouge regime in Cambodia.

The survey scored countries "right" or "wrong" on 20 assembly resolutions based on the federalists' estimates of whether they "contribute to world order" or "lead away from it," said Donald F. Keys, U.N. representative of the World Association of World Federalists.

Keys, who has conducted the survey for six consecutive years, said an attempt is made to judge the issues from "the best interests of the world at large" rather than individual countries' interests.

Norman Cousins, editor of Saturday Review magazine, is president of the world association, which claims about 60,000 members in 30 countries, including about 15,000 in the United States and Canada. Headquarters is in Amsterdam.

Swedes and Danes open trip to North Viet bomb areas

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Thirty Swedes and Danes leave Sunday on a pioneering, 17-day tourist trip to North Vietnam for holiday visits to places the U.S. Air Force bombed in the Vietnam war.

The tourists have been told that their behavior during their visits to Hanoi, Haiphong, the resort of Don Son, Gulf of Tonkin beaches and "some battlefields" will determine whether other tourists will be allowed to follow. A travel brochure is being distributed in Switzerland offering Vietnam tours in 1976.

"Over the last 50 years they had only bad experiences with Europeans, you know," said Ejner Berthelsen, the 53-year-old tour guide for the Scandinavian group. "Besides, the Vietnamese do not want to attract the usual crowd that flocks to Spain's Costa del Sol or other such places."

He said his group will be the first party of Western tourists to visit North Vietnam.

The Swiss brochure tells potential visitors they will find unspoiled beaches, dreamy islands and "quiet and peaceful scenery" in North Vietnam.

"North Vietnam has recovered from decades of conflict with breathtaking speed," the leaflet says. "It is now preparing for a new modern kind of invasion — that of tourism."

Tickets for the tour purchased in Switzerland are advertised at $1,800 for 18 days. The first group is paying $1,275, said Berthelsen, who works for the Folketurist Travel Agency which specializes in trips to Communist countries.

He said Hanoi authorities made it known to his agency that other West

Morton's capitulation

Secretary of Commerce Rogers C.B. Morton was on shaky ground in seeking to withhold documents subpoenaed by the House Commerce subcommittee on investigations and oversight. This was tacitly acknowledged in his capitulation to the demand when it seemed there were enough votes on the full Commerce Committee to recommend a House contempt citation.

What the subcommittee sought from Morton was material disclosing the involvement of American businesses in the Arab boycott of Israel. Specifically, the congressmen want U.S. firms' reports on Arab contract offers requiring that bidders not be managed by Jews or have business ties with Israel. The relevancy of such information to an inquiry into possible unfair trade practices strikes us as being beyond dispute.

Morton did not maintain that the information desired was irrelevant. He sought, rather, to withhold the reports on grounds that under the Export Administration Act he is empowered to keep information confidential on grounds of national interest.

The secretary offered no satisfactory explanation of how withholding the desired information in this case would have served the national interest. It was not on this basis, however, that the contempt action was initiated. The subcommittee claimed - rightly, in our judgment - that Congress is exempted by implication from the confidentiality provision.

If this were not so - if vital information could be arbitrarily withheld by the commerce secretary - congress would be severely handicapped in performing its legislative function. At the same time, it must be said that Congress has an obligation to exercise responsible control over information received. With assurances to this effect made by the subcommittee chairman, the agreement between Congress and Morton is in itself in the national interest.

Find nursing homes still in violation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 500 of Ohio's 948 nursing homes are not in compliance with fire sprinkler system requirements less than two weeks before the compliance deadline, a Cincinnati legislator says.

Rep. Norman A. Murdock, R-21 Cincinnati, said only 277 homes are in full compliance with the regulations as the Jan. 1 deadline approaches.

"It is time that you proceed with license revocation actions against those nursing homes not in compliance," Murdock said in a letter to Dr. John Ackerman, state health director.

"I am not anxious to put on the street hundreds or thousands of nursing home residents living in homes not in compliance, with the law," Murdock said. "But we must make a choice and take a position."

Murdock sponsored the original legislation in 1972 which set a Jan. 1, 1975, deadline for compliance. That was amended to give nursing homes an extra year to meet the standards.

Despite the extra year, Murdock said, too many nursing homes have been slow in meeting the standards.

He said 40 have flatly refused to install the systems, 16 have made only promises, 248 either are getting or have signed contracts, 124 are having the system installed, 13 have the system installed but not operational, 57 have systems with major deficiencies and 163 have systems with minor deficiencies.

"We have waited long enough in Ohio and, in my opinion, have jeopardized the health and safety of the aged (and) infirmed housed in those nursing homes," Murdock said.

Bare facts eyed on male nudity

NEW YORK (AP) — To show or not to show. That is the question again confronting the women's magazines that cater more to sex than to traditional homemaking chores.

At least one of those provocative magazines has decided that pictures of totally nude men simply don't turn women on. Starting with its March issue, two-year-old Viva, which pioneered with daring photos of the naked glory of manhood, will no longer use male frontal nudity.

"It just doesn't seem to mean anything to women," said Kathy Keeton, Viva's editor. "Women get turned on by personality, not physique."

At Playgirl, with its full color, four-page fold-outs of naked men, editor Marin Scott Milam said she disagreed with Miss Keeton's views.

"Women want to see more male nudes. They love it. We're in fact adding more pages to our centerfold features," said Mrs. Milam, noting that Playgirl's circulation was up to 1.2 million in three years.

Viva decided to show all in its fourth issue in response to hundreds of letters from women who objected to discreetly placed towels and shadows on male centerfolds that only teased the imagination.

"But we realized we'd been listening to a vocal minority. Women are far more conservative than we'd thought," said Miss Keeton.

She cited as factors in dropping frontal nudity: minimal growth in circulation (currently at 580,000), advertiser resistance and distribution problems.

Miss Keeton said one of the most popular features were sensually photographed flowers with poetic captions. Space once given to burly nudes will now contain health and beauty features, as well as service articles for working women.

"Women were just too shy to open up the magazine in places like supermarkets," said Miss Keeton. "I think women are very interested in what goes on in men's heads and in sex, but they're just not interested in men's physical dimensions."

Mrs. Milam agreed that women where shy about male nudity but felt they were overcoming their shyness.

"I think it's true that women do not accept male nudity in magazines with alacrity. It's a learning process and women are reacting against years of conditioning. But it's not fair to say women don't enjoy beautiful male bodies," she said. "They like them in all shapes and sizes."

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Neighbor seeks help for elderly stalker

DEAR ABBY: Three months ago, a middle-aged woman moved into our apartment building on my floor. She lives alone with her dog. She's always dressed as though she's going to the opera-furs, capes, feathers and a different wig for every day of the week.

She talks to herself and carries a suitcase wherever she goes. I'm sure she's not all there. She's not very friendly. When I say hello to her, she answers curtly and keeps going.

Yesterday she walked down the hall stark naked to empty her trash basket! I couldn't believe my eyes. Phoned the manager immediately, and he said the woman pays her rent on time and doesn't bother anybody so he couldn't do anything about it. He said the police would have to catch her in the act, at which time they could take her down and book her.

Abby, I don't want to cause trouble for the poor woman, but she must have family somewhere who should be notified.

What should I do? My husband says it's none of my business.

CONCERNED NEIGHBOR
DEAR CONCERNED: Your husband is wrong. It IS your business. The woman is obviously disturbed and in need of treatment. Call your local Mental Health Association and report the incident to them. In the meantime, try to make friends with her. Nearly everyone responds to kindness.

DEAR ABBY: How do we shape up our children's table manners (ages 8, 10 and 12) without causing complete disruption at mealtime?

DAD
DEAR DAD: Consistent and gentle reminders plus adult examples should do it.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter who is not yet 15 wants to date a 20-year-old divorced man. I have tried to talk her out of it, but she doesn't listen to me.

She is a good student and has never been in any kind of trouble, but I think she is too young for a man his age. Especially a divorced one.

What do you think? Also, when he calls is it my place to ask him to please not call my daughter anymore?

WORRIED MOM
DEAR MOM: When he calls, let your daughter tell him not to call anymore. I agree he's too old for her, divorced or not.

DEAR ABBY: My husband insists that he is not an alcoholic because he doesn't drink any alcohol-only beer. But he drinks a six-pack every evening and on weekends he can put away a couple of cases. He gets very drunk. At least he acts drunk to me. Yet he tells me that as long as he drinks only beer, he is not an alcoholic.

Is that right?

HIS WIFE
DEAR WIFE: No! There IS alcohol in beer, and anyone who drinks as much beer as you say your husband drinks qualifies as an alcoholic in my book!

Old bones discovered

CLEVELAND (AP)—The bones of several large persons approaching the size of modern man have been found in Ethiopia by Cleveland anthropologist Dr. Carl Johanson.

Johanson, who last year discovered a 3 million-year-old skeleton of a woman, cabled the National Geographic Society recently that his find is "exceptional because of antiquity and presents many possibilities for study of man's ancestors."

He said he found the remains of several adults and several infants. One nearly complete hand, almost modern in size, was capable of grasping and probably also of fine movements, he said.

The anthropologist said the group closely resembles fossils of homo sapiens found in East Rudolf, Olduvai and Laetoli, and is among the oldest definite evidence for the ancestry of modern man.

Johanson's finds will be brought to the Cleveland Museum of Natural History for study.

Debate teams eye food supply plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration's views on world food supply management, generally oriented to free markets, is being fed by the Agriculture Department to 18,000 high-school debate teams.

A spokesman said the views, included in a 15-page YSDA booklet, represent "by and large" the White House position on international food reserves. It cost about $4,000 to prepare 100,000 copies. Five are being sent to each of the schools, which include both public and private institutions.

Claude W. Gifford, director of the department's Office of Communication which is handling the project, said in an enclosed note to debaters and coaches that the report was developed "in response to requests from across the country" for material related to the 1975-76 debate topic: "Resolved: the development and allocation of scarce world resources should be controlled by an international organization."

Song master Stephen Foster spent his young manhood in Cincinnati as a shipping office clerk, working for a brother. He got inspiration for his famed songs after some trips in Kentucky and down the Ohio and Mississippi listening to Negro spirituals. Relics of the composer are at the University of Cincinnati.

Since the administration is opposed to international control, only the case against such controls was developed in the report. There was no attempt to balance it with arguments in favor of such controls, officials said.

The report said food should not be considered as a "scarce" resource since it can be renewed. That is not the case with others, such as oil. Inevitably, the report said, the allocation of world food resources by an international body would be based on political considerations.

"The marketplace is a far more efficient and effective allocator of resources than the political arena," the report said.

Further, it said, international control "would require that nations relinquish an important part of their sovereignty ... to an entity beyond their borders."

The President's Sept. 18, 1974, proposal to the United Nations was cited in which he said the United States favored "a system" of international food reserves which Ford said should help protect hungry people in times of short harvests.

"This system will work best if each nation is made responsible for managing the reserves that it will have available," Ford was quoted. The report said that was "the key" to his proposal.

Deadline near for barrow show

By JOHN P. GRUBER
County Extension Agent, Agriculture
Entries for the 1976 Buckeye Barrow Show close January 5. The date for this year's event is Saturday, January 10. A large number of entries were made last summer when barrows in the performance tested barrow class went on test at Wilmington College. However, those producers who plan to make entry in the open class and junior division shows must get those entries mailed to R.F. Wilson, 2029 Fyffe Road, Columbus, Ohio.

Copies of the Barrow Show rules and entry forms are available at the Extension Office.

Two Fayette Countians are heading up the executive committee of this year's show. Dave Owens, Jeffersonville, is chairman of the event and Lester Jordan, Washington C.H., is vice chairman. These two are looking forward to continued strong participation by local pork producers in the Barrow Show.

This year's Barrow Show will be preceded by the All Ohio Swine Banquet at 7 p.m., Friday, January 9, at the Rhodes Center on the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

The annual Buckeye Barrow Show is sponsored by the Ohio Swine Breeders and Feeders, the Ohio Pork Producers Council, and the Pork Improvement Association of Ohio.

JANUARY 7 has been set aside as Swine Buildings Day in the Washington C.H. area. A full day program of "Buildings for Pigs - Not People" will be presented from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

Three of the resource people who will appear on the program include Dr. R.D. Fritschen, University of Nebraska, Dr. Richard White, OSU agricultural engineer, and Bill Schnug, OSU agricultural engineer.

We'll provide more program details in the weeks ahead but pork producers will want to mark the calendar and plan to attend this buildings meeting.

WHILE YOUR marking the calendar keep in mind that January 19 is the date for the annual Cattlefeeders Banquet. Marty Brenneman, radio voice of the Cincinnati Reds, will be the featured speaker. Tickets for the banquet have been set at $6 and will be available after Christmas.

A NOTE from Ralph Grimshaw, extension sheep specialist, reminds us that the Ohio Ram Test Station is now in operation. The first group of lambs are now on test at facility located at Caldwell in Noble County.

Invitation is given to all sheep producers to make nominations for the 1976 spring groups of lambs. Nominations are accepted as long as there is space available. January born lamb nominations are due February 20 and the lambs must arrive at the station March 19. February lambs should be nominated by March 17 and the lambs go to the Station on April 16. The dates for March lambs are April 15 and May 14. Nomination forms are available at the Extension office.

Cattle feeding comeback seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — After years of financial setbacks, the cattle feeding industry appears to be making a comeback and probably will continue to gain strength if prices hold up as well as they have been, according to Agriculture Department economists.

As of Dec. 1, the department said Monday, cattle being fed for slaughter in seven key states totaled 8,252,000 head, up 25 per cent from a year earlier. It was the third monthly increase in a row.

Until this fall, feedlot inventories have lagged below year-earlier levels since 1973 as producers cut back because of high costs in relation to live-stock prices.

Now, with bumper grain harvests and lower feed costs, feedlots are showing more activity. Also, cattle prices are much higher than they were a year ago or early in 1975.

The seven-state report also showed that placements of new cattle in feedlots last month totaled 1,955,000 head, up 47 per cent from November of 1974. Officials said the seven states included in the monthly survey account for about one-third of the nation's grain-fed beef.

According to USDA analysts, the 25 per cent increase in the Dec. 1 inventory was about in line with what had been expected. They also say that the momentum will continue well into next year if prices hold up.

Meanwhile, 1975 total beef output is estimated to be up about 5 per cent from last year, but all of the gain stems from the increased slaughter of cows, calves and other "nonfed" animals which receive little or no grain. Marketings of fed cattle this year are expected to be the smallest since 1966.

But cow slaughter is up 50 per cent from 1974 to record levels as producers thin out breeding herds. In the last six months of 1975, cow slaughter will be more than in all of 1973 before the cutback in feedlot operations took hold.

Say feds owe fair farm policy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The United States owes reliable federal agricultural policy to American farmers for sensible crop planning, Nebraska State Sen. Loran Schmit said Sunday.

Schmit told a national food policy conference that government asks farmers for full production and then steps in to slow down exports so that prices drop below the farmers' cost of production.

"We have to reassure the farmer that the food he produces is not just sustaining life in other countries, but that he also can be able to survive economically if he produces this food."

The conference is meeting through Tuesday at the Academy for Contemporary Problems, sponsored by the committee on food policy of the Lieutenant Governors Conference and the food supply and agriculture task force of the National Conference of State Legislatures. The 3-day session is to concentrate on agricultural exports and their domestic implications.

Schmit said that the American consumer may have to be reconciled to rising food costs.

"There is no way food prices can remain stable if no other prices are. Americans complain about the high cost for beef but they will go out and pay more for a color television or automobile," he said.

FOR A HAPPY HOLIDAY

That three-generation holiday—will it be celebrated with happiness or hostility? Friction between grandparents, their children, and the grandchildren spoils many a holiday get-together. Grandparents can help to keep the holidays happy for everyone by observing these "do's" and "don'ts".

Don't give your children advice on how to raise their children.

Don't criticize your son-in-law or daughter-in-law.

Don't be the expert in your daughter's or daughter-in-law's kitchen—be the assistant. That goes for grandfather, too, when doing something around the house or apartment for your son or son-in-law.

Don't get involved in the young couple's quarrels.

Don't be miffed if your children and grandchildren don't take your advice.

Don't interfere in family affairs with unasked-for advice.

Don't argue with your adult children. Arguments rarely solve problems; they only create or intensify a bad relationship. When two people think differently about an issue and both feel justified in their thinking, agree that each has the right to disagree—then drop the subject.

Don't get involved in a power struggle with the grandchildren. Remove yourself from the situation temporarily.

Don't choose sides with the grandchildren against their parents or vice versa.

Don't try to make up for lost time by giving in to all your grandchildren's request. Usually the youngsters are just testing your limits.

Don't spend all your time for the grandchildren. Plan time in the schedule for your own children.

Do ask your children to explain their parenting philosophy so you can follow it, too.

Mrs. Climer Daughters hostess

The Kings Daughters Class of First Christian Church met Monday in the home of Mrs. Robert Climer for the December meeting and Christmas party.

Mrs. Parsley, class president, opened the meeting with an expression of appreciation to the hostess for the evenings hospitalities and followed with reading of a Bible quotation from the class year book.

Mrs. Helm, class teacher, presented devotions having for her theme the Christmas Story. She read the story from the Books of St. Matthew and St. Luke, and closed with prayer. The members joined in singing Christmas carols also as part of the devotional period.

Reports were read and approved.

A poinsettia was provided for the church for Christmas with plans for distribution following the Choir Concert. The class approved yearly contributions to the Emily Flynn Home in Indiana, and the Ohio Christian Children's Home at Wooster.

Get-well cards were prepared for forwarding to Mrs. Thelma Mills and Mrs. Elizabeth Hall.

A report of the nominating committee was presented by Miss Verna Williams. Officers elected for the new year are Mrs. Carl Meriweather, president; Mrs. Orville Dunlap, vice president; Delores Cadwallader, secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Fullerton, assistant secretary; Mrs. Gertrude Butler, treasurer; and Mrs. Elizabeth Hall, assistant treasurer.

Mrs. Edith Parsley was commended for her term as class president and responded by presenting the gavel to the new president Martha Meriweather.

Do watch your children to see how they discipline their children' it will improve your relationships with both generations.

Do set rules when the grandchildren visit in your home. Let them help set the rules so everyone knows what's expected.

Do let your children be the "boss" in their home.

Do compliment your son-in-law and daughter-in-law in front of your child and the grandchildren.

Do let your children know when you are coming and how long you're going to stay.

Do take a break from the whole family especially during a long visit. Everyone likes and needs to be alone at times.

When talking with a grandchild: Be interested in what the youngster is doing. Ask questions, but don't pry! Talk in a friendly voice.

When a grandchild explains or tells you something, don't throw cold water on his ideas or opinions. Simply say, "That sounds interesting. Tell me more about it." As the youngster explains his point, you may discover that you two have much in common. You'll learn more about your grandchild which will help you build a better relationship.

When you ask a grandchild to do something, ask only once. If the youngster doesn't follow through, let him suffer the consequences. Don't make exotic promises to get a child to do something for you; let the child do favors for you because he wants to.

Holidays can be happy for everyone—if each person's dignity and respect are kept intact. All three generations can add much to each other's lives and can happily share the holidays.

Trace blows WCH off court in loop rout

By MARK REA
Record-Herald Sports Writer

In what was billed to be a tight basketball game, the Miami Trace Panthers blew county rival Washington C.H. right out of the MTHS gym by a score of 83-64. The Panthers, under first-year boss John Woolums, threw a sticky man-to-man press at the Lions and it proved too much for them to handle.

Each team had a big scorer with the only difference being that Trace just had a lot more scoring than did Washington C.H. Senior Alan Conner whipped in 29 points on 11 floor shots and seven foul shots, 13 of which came in the second quarter. The hustling forward also pulled 14 rebounds to take honors in that contest.

About the only thing that Court House fans had to cheer about the entire game was the heroics of sophomore sensation John Denen. He also poured in 29 points, 17 coming in the fourth quarter. Denen pulled down 13 rebounds to be his team's leading rebounder on the night.

The Panthers, who had been playing either brilliantly or poorly all season, got their big weapon, the fastbreak, working and the Blue Lions were simply outclassed.

"When we run, we play. And when we don't, we don't," coach Woolums said after the contest that should not only help the Panthers in the league standings, but should help them build confidence.

Another contributing factor to Trace's big point spread was the fact that the Lions lost the services of senior forward Doug Phillips at the 5:19 mark in the second quarter with a sprained ankle.

As the game began, the Lions looked as though they would blow the Panthers out as they chalked up a 6-0 lead in one minute and forty-six seconds on jumpers by Phillips, Denen, and Byrd.

At the 6:14 mark, Woolums called a timeout that seemed to change the whole game. Seemingly settled after a talk with their head coach, Trace rattled off thirteen consecutive points shutting out the Lion offense for nearly four minutes. The Lions finally got back on the track and scored six in a row to cut the margin to 13-12. From there, the teams traded baskets and at the end of the first quarter, Miami Trace held a slim 17-16 lead.

The second quarter was all Conner as he repeatedly got loose for jumpers around the foul line and seemingly never missed. Washington C.H. held the lead at 25-23 briefly but Conner scored seven points in a row to give Trace a 30-25 lead, an advantage that they would not lose the rest of the game. Conner had just two points in the first period, but by halftime, he had collected 15 tallies. The teams went to the lockerrooms with Trace leading 37-31.

The beginning minutes of the third quarter was really the key to the win for Trace. To begin the quarter, Court House's Ken Upthegrove hit a bucket to make the score 37-33 and from then on it was all Miami Trace. Getting three baskets from Conner and one each from John Schlichter and Rod Garringer, Trace scored 10 unanswered points giving them a 14 point bulge. At the buzzer at the end of the third period, the game was all but over with the Panthers on top, 57-40.

During the final period, Trace kept on with its relentless shooting and scoring and if it were not for Denen, Washington could have been wiped out altogether. Denen scored 17 of his team's 24 points in the period while Trace was scoring another 26 to put in their point total. Denen took everything from a tip-in to a 20 footer and made them drop through the hoop. However, Denen's heroics were not nearly enough and the Panthers went on to take the game in an 83-64 rout.

The Panthers had an edge in practically all of the statistical departments. Their shooting percentage from the floor was 49.2, making 32 of 65 shots. The Lions hit on 25 out of 59 field goal attempts for 42.3 per cent. Trace shot 78 per cent at the foul line, converting on 21 of 29 tries while Washington made just 14 of 26 charity tosses for 54 per cent. Trace grabbed an edge in the rebounding department and Court House committed 25 costly turnovers while the Panthers gave the ball away 13 times.

Denen was the only Lion in double figures although Upthegrove and Byrd nearly cracked the barrier with eight points each. Garringer and John Schlichter, who came off the bench to hit 58 per cent of his shots, each scored in double figures for Trace with 14 and 13 points respectively.

Next week, the Panthers have a non-league contest with Franklin Heights on Dec. 27 and resume SCOL play at Unioto on Jan. 6.

The Blue Lions have the entire Christmas break to rest before they enter back into the SCOL wars versus Hillsboro on Jan. 6 at the WSHS gym.

Lion reserves blast Trace

The Washington C.H. Blue Lion reserves chalked up their fifth consecutive victory last night with an easy, 52-30, win over the Miami Trace jayvees prior to the Lion-Panther varsity clash.

Court House outscored Trace 12-2 in the first quarter, was ahead 25-10 at the half and coasted to victory from there. Coach John Skinner's Lionmen used good shooting and numerous Panther miscues and mistakes to take the win.

The Lions and Panthers each had one man in double figures for the evening. Junior Tom Dean led the Lions, and all scorers, with 15 points and Miami Trace's Glen Cobb had 11 counters. Washington also got balanced scoring from several other players while Cobb's performance was nearly the only high point for Trace.

Donald Justice and Dee Hart Foster each contributed eight points to the winning cause while Bruce Cupp tossed in five points and Terry Wilson, Mark Burke, and Jeff DeWeese all had four apiece. For Trace, Dennis Combs and Don Eyre each had four tallies.

Next week, Trace has a night off from league work as they entertain Franklin Heights on Saturday. In two weeks, Court House will entertain Hillsboro looking for their sixth win in a row.

STICKY DEFENSE — Miami Trace's Art Schlichter and Dan Gifford put the squeeze on Washington C.H.'s Chuck Byrd in second quarter action of last night's, 83-64, Panther win. The Miami Trace guards hounded Byrd all night and held the high-scoring Blue Lion to just eight points.

Flyers lose tournament opener

Wildcats edge Georgia Tech

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Kentucky Wildcats took Coach Joe Hall on a roller-coaster ride and he may have a hard time recovering.

"The last 25 minutes of the game was just beyond comprehension," Hall said Friday night after watching his team's highly erratic performance in the first round of the Kentucky Invitational Basketball Tournament at Lexington, Ky.

The 20th-ranked Wildcats had a runaway 21-point lead over Georgia Tech in the first half, then almost lost it in the end, finally pulling out a 66-64 thriller.

"The emotional instability of the team was evident," noted Hall. "When we saw it was going to be easy, we let up. And when we let up, we are not a good ballclub."

"We can beat Oregon State (tonight) if we play like we did earlier (against Georgia Tech). But we'll get beat by 40 if we play like we did the rest of the way."

The exciting game was the nightcap of a first-round doubleheader. Oregon State whipped 19th-ranked Arizona State 87-83 to gain tonight's finals against the Wildcats.

The Kentucky Invitational was one of a basketful of holiday season tournaments around the country.

Top-ranked Indiana walloped Georgia 93-56 and Virginia Tech crushed Oregon 87-60 in the opening round of the Indiana Classic at Bloomington; No. 8 Alabama beat Pittsburgh 62-53 and Florida State took South Florida 78-71 in the Big Sun Tournament at St. Petersburg, Fla.; No. 11 Tennessee breezed past Army 99-69 and Clemson outscored Middle Tennessee State 82-46 in the Volunteer Classic at Knoxville; No. 14 San Francisco beat Oral Roberts 98-76 and Providence defeated Santa Clara 73-66 in the Cable Car Classic at San Francisco and No. 17 Auburn lost to SMU 87-85 in overtime and Texas-El Paso beat Tulsa 77-67 in the Sun Bowl Tournament at El Paso.

Elsewhere, Michigan crushed Southern Illinois 74-49 and Miami, Ohio, tripped Princeton 66-61 in the Michigan Invitational at Ann Arbor; Mississippi State nudged Dayton 56-54 and Long Beach State turned back Washington State 80-74 in the Dayton Classic at Dayton, Ohio; Kansas defeated Yale 63-54 and LaSalle nudged Texas A&M 59-57 in the Jayhawk Classic at Lawrence, Kan.; Nebraska whipped the University of Pacific 85-59 and New Mexico State stopped Denver 104-100 in the Roadrunner Invitational at Las Cruces, N.M., and Arkansas State trimmed Hardin-Simmons 88-73 and Northeast Louisiana defeated South Alabama 84-81 in the Indian Holiday Classic at Jonesboro, Ark.

Bengals warned of tough contest

CINCINNATI (AP)—Sizing up the San Diego Chargers "as big as any team we've faced," Paul Brown has warned his playoff-minded Cincinnati Bengals they can't afford to take their 2-11 opponent lightly in Sunday's National Football League finale.

"They've got momentum. I just hope my players realize it. If we don't work at it, we'll get licked," said the 67-year-old "dean" of National Football League coaches.

Cincinnati, 10-3, would advance to next week's NFL playoffs against the Oakland Raiders if they get past the Chargers.

San Diego, which got off to an 0-9 start, has won its last two games against the Kansas City Chiefs and the New York Jets.

But the Chargers will be without starting quarterback Dan Fouts, who suffered a concussion in last week's 24-16 victory over the Jets. Fouts, who engineered last year's upset of Cincinnati, will be replaced by Jesse Freitas.

Bengals quarterback Ken Anderson and wide receiver Isaac Curtis are poised to set career marks. Anderson, who is averaging 248 aerial yards per game, is bidding to become the NFL's first repeat passing champion in over a decade. He is presently in third in the ratings, trailing by mere percentage points.

He needs 47 yards to go over the 3,000-yard mark in passing for the first time. Curtis, the swift deep threat, has equaled his pro high of 44 catches and needs only one more yard to crack Eric Crabtree's club mark of 855 yards by a receiver.

The Bengals hope to shrug off their worst loss in several seasons, a 35-14 pounding by Pittsburgh.

Hurricane edges Unioto stall, 15-13

By PHIL LEWIS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Basketball teams rarely, if ever, score only one point in a single half, and when they do, they never win the game. Well the rarity occurred Friday night at Unioto, when the Wilmington Hurryin' Hurricane managed only one point - a freethrow - in the second half and still won the game by an unbelievable, 15-13, score.

Unioto was the cause of the whole situation that might well land the Shermans and the Hurricane in a page of "Ripley's Believe It or Not."

The Shermans, obviously tired of losing by nearly 30 points an outing which has led to a miserable 0-6 season record, tried the stall.

"We had to do something different," rookie coach Dave Warne said after his Shermans dropped another one.

Sitting on the ball the entire game may have been a bit radical, but the Shermans only lost by two points which is quite an improvement over past losses.

At the end of the first quarter, Wilmington held a 6-2 lead, but the Tanks narrowed the margin to three points, 14-11, in the second quarter. Then, the game began to slow down—as Ripley would say "believe it or not". The second half saw only three points scored and neither team connected in the third quarter, as Unioto was perfectly happy in dribble away the clock, and Wilmington wasn't too anxious to take the ball away.

One factor behind the unusual strategy employed by the Unioto coach was the loss of 6-3, center Roger Rutherford, who quit the team earlier this week. This left the Tanks with a lineup averaging well below 6-0 in height. Warne thought it would be disastrous to take on the tall and quick Hurricane five without using the stall.

Some interesting statistics on the night include a combined total of 34 shots from the field; Wilmington hit on seven of 20 and Unioto connected on four of 14.

Wilmington's Tim Starkey and Unioto's Gary Proehl took scoring honors in the contest with a grand total of six points.

In other league action Friday night, things were a little more normal. Circleville topped Hillsboro, 60-51, and Greenfield McClain beat Madison Plains, 63-53.

The league leading Tigers from Circleville kept their perfect record in tact behind the shooting of Biff Bumgarner, George Moore and Mike McCoy. The three Tigers all hit in double figures with Bumgarner leading the way from his forward position with 19 markers.

Center Tim Fuller paced Hillsboro and took scoring honors in the contest with 24 points.

Greenfield got 23 points and 22 rebounds from senior center Steve Harvey as the McClain squad handed Madison Plains a 10-point loss.

The win left McClain with a 3-2 league record while Madison Plains dropped to 2-3 in the SCOL.

Tangerine Bowl today

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — South Carolina will pit its flamboyant, wide-open offense against the conservative running attack of Miami of Ohio in the Tangerine Bowl today.

Although his team is a four-point favorite, Miami Coach Dick Crum says he expects his defense to have a tough afternoon.

"We never see any veers in the Midwest, but South Carolina has played against a lot of 1 formations," he said. However, South Carolina Coach Jim Carlen was quick to disagree. "Let me tell you something about Miami," he said. "They can play against anything and their record shows it. Personnel wins games, not formations. And they've got the personnel on defense, a category we haven't done well in all year."

Miami, the Mid-American Conference champion, held its opponents to 213.9 yards a game.

Car pool plans still thriving

By The Associated Press

Car pools formed during the energy crisis to conserve gasoline are still thriving in many parts of the country, according to officials who say sharing a ride has become a money-saving habit for millions of workers.

The Federal Highway Administration, which uses the slogan "Double Up, America," to encourage commuters to share vehicles, estimated more than 20 million persons use car pools every day.

Comparisons between car pools now and at the height of the gasoline shortage in early 1974 are difficult because many of the shared-ride programs were started on an informal basis and no statistics were kept. There are indications, however, that interest in car pools continues to grow, although at a slower pace than previously.

The federal government has provided funds for 125 car pool projects since the energy crisis struck, with about one-third of them set up in the past year. The money has been used to establish special parking areas, reserved highway lanes and computerized programs to match up riders and drivers.

Car pools generally were most successful in areas where there are concentrated centers of industry and housing; they failed to catch on in places where population and businesses were widely scattered.

Officials said money rather than fuel conservation has become the prime motivation for people to use car pools. There no longer is any shortage of gasoline, but rising costs and publicity about the monetary savings — which can run more than $1,000 a year per person depending on the size of the auto, the length of the trip and the number of participants — have kept the car pool alive.

An Associated Press survey showed several companies not only are encouraging car pools, but also are using vans to transport employees.

The Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. has purchased 75 vans over the past three years and has given them to employees who, in return for the use of the vehicle in their private lives, agree to pick up other workers. The company pays maintenance and insurance; the employees pay eight cents a mile for off-duty use of the vans.

Connecticut started a car pool program in 1972, and Charles J. Gudaitis, a planner in the Department of Transportation, said the effort to provide commuter buses and parking for car poolers has been gaining steadily.

"We think we have had better success than any other part of the country," he said. Gudaitis said the use of special parking lots and buses increased 40 to 45 per cent between 1974 and 1975.

Tri-Met, which runs the mass transit system in the Portland, Ore., area has been promoting car pooling for two years with the aid of a $250,000 federal grant. A survey showed 22,000 drivers joined car pools in the first year.

Stan Stokely, energy conservation official at the Tennessee Valley Authority in Knoxville, said the company's program to encourage employees to join car pools or ride vans, bikes or buses to work "exceeded all of our expectations."

He said the company estimates "a saving of more than 450,000 gallons of gasoline this year out of our whole program."

Devices cut vandalism

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Listening devices installed in 14 Columbus area public schools have virtually eliminated vandalism since August, school officials say.

Before the installation, damage to equipment, supplies and buildings averaged $10,000 annually. The protective system, installed by a private security firm, costs $6,720 per year.

A school spokesman said the devices are installed near doorways and office areas and are sensitive enough to detect the sound of running water. They are turned on at the end of each school day and during weekends. The devices are monitored in the offices of the security firm and any sound of activity at a school is immediately reported to police and school officials.

The spokesman said similar systems are planned for other buildings in the district.

The bidding:

South West North East
1 NT 2♥ 2 NT Dble

Opening lead - seven of hearts.

I have it on excellent authority that this deal occurred in England during a match between two teams of medical students.

At the first table, South wound up playing the hand at two notrump doubled. North's two notrump bid very likely was regarded by some readers as a strange distortion of his values, but ours is not to reason why — we merely report what happened.

East had some doubts about South's ability to make two notrump, so he doubled. Apparently the standard of play was much higher than the standard of bidding, because the defense proceeded to function perfectly and exacted the maximum penalty.

East won the heart lead with the ace, cashed five spades tricks, and returned a heart, trapping declarer's Q-10. All told, the defense scored twelve tricks and South went down 2,000.

There must have been something peculiar about the North hand that appealed more to the medical eye than it would to most of us, because the bidding at the second table followed this exotic course:

South West North East
1 NT 2♥ 2♠ Pass
3♣ Pass Pass Dble

East doubted that three spades could be made, and he doubled when that contract was reached. After leading the ace of hearts, he cashed the A-K-Q-J of trumps and played another heart. By the time the dust has lifted, the autopsy revealed that South had gone down eight — 2,400 points, counting East's 100 honors.

So the outcome was that the North-South pair who went down "only" 2,000 at the first table gained 400 points on the deal! My sources do not reveal whether they viewed the operation as a success, but, quite obviously, they bid the hand better than the North-South pair at the second table!

Winning the Washington Duplicate Bridge Club charity game Tuesday was Mrs. J.C. Wright and George Malek, who barely edged Mrs. Charles Fabb and Mrs. Grove Davis. The first-place pair scored 60½ matchpoints to the 60 points totalled by the second finishers, Chuck Meriweather and Bruce Strickling, who had 59, finished third.

Proceeds from the game will be sent to the American Contract Bridge League as a contribution to their charity fund which serves a variety of worthwhile projects.

Preventing Arteriosclerosis

The prevention of arteriosclerosis now seems to be a reality. The control of cholesterol and the reduction of lipoproteins (complex fatty substances) in the bloodstream are expected to prevent the early formation of arteriosclerosis.

Dr. Daniel Steinberg, of the University of California in San Diego, predicts that within the next five years drugs that reduce circulating fat in the bloodstream will dramatically alter the onset and progression of arteriosclerosis.

A new chair has been designed for the handicapped and the convalescent.

A small motor lifts the cushion and raises the occupant to a semi-standing position. For those who are unable to get out of their chair without help, this motorized device should be of extreme value.

The chair is manufactured by the American Stair-Glide Company in Grand View, Missouri.

It is heartening to note that architects are giving greater consideration to the needs of the handicapped in the construction of public buildings, hotels, airports, airplanes and in all areas where their personal serviceability and dignity can be increased.

be increased.

Legs that might otherwise be removed because of poor circulation are now being salvaged by a variety of operations.

Transplantation of blood vessels has been successfully performed for the past 15 years, with increasingly good results.

Now, a brilliant operation uses a special umbilical vein to replace arteries that are closed and unable to carry vital blood and oxygen to the legs and feet.

Sr. Hersert Dardik and Dr. Irving Dardik, of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York City, have already restored circulation in limbs of patients by this method.

At a recent congress on vascular surgery, the cases that were presented by these doctors were considered to be a major advance in reconstructive vascular operations.

If the preliminary result of this specialized technique fulfills its promise, the umbilical vein substitute may be used for other types of surgery of the blood vessels.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "Alcoholism—A Family Disease." It probes this grave problem and offers helpful advice. For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D. (Alcoholism booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017.
